

Screen for Strengths

A Tool to Measure Gains in Social-Emotional Competency

Provides quantifiable data about "intangible assets"

Screen for Strengths is a student self-assessment that meets the needs of schools to provide data about the development of non-academic, often culturally contingent, "intangible" assets. Screen for Strengths:

- Incorporates student voice
- Identifies areas ripe for personal growth in students.
- · Aids adults in directing students to appropriate interventions
- Provides a pre- to post-intervention measure of skill gains from a variety of interventions, including Ripple Effects student programs
- Complements educator observational assessments
- Enables schools to meet documentation requirements of funders and policy makers
- Measures targeted growth over time

Screen for Strengths is designed to measure seven social-emotional attributes (42 guestions total) associated with resiliency, pro-social behavior and school success.

Screen for Strengths -Kids

- Standing strong
- Being connected
- Knowing you can
- Thinking of others
- Controlling yourself
- Handling feelings •
- Solving problems

Screen for Strengths - Teens

- Assertiveness
- Self-efficacy
- Self-control
- Problem-solving
- Connectedness •
- Empathy
- Managing feelings

TOPICS		V
EMPATHY	*
I can feel what other people are feeling.	7.5	1.7
I can predict what others will need and feel.	0.7	0	Screen For Strengths - Kids
I reassure others.	2	5.3	You's sense of your strengths and areas of growth
I listen closely to others.	0	6	Standing Strong Being Connected
I am concerned about others.	0	7.5	Knowing You Can
I let people know I care about them.	0	8.2	Thinking of Others Controlling Yourself
			Handling Feelings
NUMBER = GROWTH AREA			Find Store

Quantifiable data report available for educator and student

Although inspired by and parallel to validated scales in the public domain, these are not refined psychological assessment tools. The measurements they offer allow most people, to get a good sense of their strengths, and understand which social-emotional-behavioral interventions would be the best fit for them.

Peer-narrated text for every question

Surprise ending motivates participation